It is my pleasure to strongly recommend Michael Hickle of the Sill Company. Michael first helped me with a fire loss many years ago in 2009. The insurance company was trying to reduce the overall claim amount and leave us with insufficient funds to complete the repairs. Michael was a huge help in assessing the damage and negotiation a reasonable settlement.

Since then, while rarely occurring thankfully, Michael has handled any of our larger insurance claims. While most insurance companies work in good faith, it is still advisable to hire an adjuster to look out for your interests.

Recently we had a small fire in an office building and Michael handled the claim for us from start to finish. The insurance company was reasonable but there were many site inspections and a lot of back and forth on the total loss amount. Many hours were spent organizing all of the financials for the business interruption claim. We couldn't have navigated all of the nuances of the policy without Michael's help. We are another happy customer.

Sincerely,

Isaac Nasar
